Parsing and Multi-Word Expressions. Towards linguistic precision and computational efficiency in Natural Language Processing

Objectives

- To put multilingualism in focus of linguistic and technological studies.
- To establish a long-lasting collaboration of Natural Language Processing (NLP) experts within a cross-lingual, cross-theoretical and cross-methodological research network.
- To bridge the gap between linguistic precision and computational efficiency in NLP applications.

Working Groups

- WG 1: Lexicon/Grammar Interface
- WG 2: Parsing Techniques for Multi-Word Expressions
- WG 3: Hybrid Parsing of Multi-Word Expressions
- WG 4: Annotating Multi-Word Expressions in Treebanks

Main Achievements

- Gathering a cross-lingual, cross-theoretical and cross-methodological consortium.
- 23 languages, 6 dialects and 8 language families are represented: Germanic (British/American English, Danish, Dutch, German, Icelandic, Norwegian, Swedish), Finno-Ugric (Estonian, Hungarian), Hellenic (Greek), Romance (Swiss /France French, Italian, European/Brazilian Portuguese, Spanish), Semitic (Hebrew, Maltese), Slavic (Bulgarian, Czech, Polish, Serbian, Macedonian), Turkic (Turkish).
